Selectmen's Meeting

CONFERENCE PROPOSITION 2 1/2

Mattapoisett Selectmen conferred with the Mattapoisett Finance Committee to assess the impact of the Proposition 2 1/2 legislation on the town. Since the town government has been run with a very conservative viewpoint, it was agreed that the limit would not have an immediate impact. The decrease in excise tax revenue will not be apparent until next year because the town has always waited until the funds are in hand before applying them rather than in anticipation. The Finance Committee will seek out cuts that can be effected.

Selectmen forwarded Treasurer Allen Sherman's request that interest on a $600,000 loan and a 1.5 million loan which were taken by the town in anticipation of revenue (due to the delay in tax bills caused by the 100% revaluation of town property) be added directly to the tax rate. The interest amounts to $1,831.51 and $29,989.92 respectively. The Finance Committee agreed and Selectmen voted to certify these amounts to the Assessors to be applied to the tax rate.

Selectmen asked that $139.00 for engineering fees and services due to Arthur Thompson be transferred from the Reserve Fund. This was for a survey of Tinkham Lane done by the Selectmen in order to determine the exact placement of that road.

WATER VALLEY STUDY

Selectman John DeCosta reported that the Water Valley Study Committee has made valuable progress. He said that 2 committees were formed at the last session, one to study zoning in the valley, the other to determine the amount of water available to the towns from this source.

AGREEMENT FROM DPW SIGNED

Selectmen signed a memorandum of agreement from the Massachusetts DPW for the money to be appropriated at the April 1981 Town Meeting. At the last Town Meeting the sum of $17,518.00 was appropriated. This contract calls for $10,110 under Chapter 570 and $18,279 under Chapter 329. This memorandum of agreement allocates the money to the town if and when it is decided to use it.

NOTICE FROM GAS COMPANY

Selectmen received a notice from the Commonwealth Gas Company that recent legislation requires the participation of all utilities in an underground damage prevention system to utilize the Dig Safe System. Notification is required, except in an emergency, at least 72 hours in advance of excavation.

RECEIVED COPY OF EASEMENT

Selectmen received from Town Counsel Donald Fleming a copy of the easement from the Town of Mattapoisett to Neilson Abeel and Daniel O. Mahoney, Trustees, which has been recorded with the Plymouth Registry of Deeds on November 25, 1980.

Proposition Common Sense

Editorial, DCJ

It is far from certain that many in government realize what message the vote for Proposition 2 1/2 was meant to convey. It has become immediately apparent that government leadership realizes that homeowners want to continue the concept of private home ownership and will make decisions based on that concept because they must. It is far from clear that these same officials are aware that the vote was for a general trimming of all government that has been fueling our intolerable inflation rate. To switch the burden from the individual's home to another vital sector of his daily life is to perform the old shell game and accomplishes nothing.

It is a fact of life that the United States' automobile industry is in serious trouble.

Government officials are filled with concern about the limit of the automobile excise tax to the 2 1/2% limit. Did it ever occur to anyone that when the smallest automobile is in the $6000 range that excise taxes have contributed mightily to the falling sales of cars, especially in addition to a sales tax that adds 5% to the price of the car right on the top? What would be the use of a law to allow the homeowner to survive if government is simply to shift from one section of the taxpayer's back to the other and let inflation just take the same old upward curve?

What the people had in mind was a more efficient service from the government. Rather than new taxes to replace the trimmed revenue, maybe voters expect elected officials to assess their own departments, for the first time, to find what can be eliminated or cut down. Maybe voters doubt that any government on any level is so finely tuned that no economy is possible. There has been little, if any, incentive to live within a limit in government. Under years of these conditions surely some place somewhere there must be a way to trim the costs to meet the income as is done in the private sector every day.

WHY ARE THEY THERE

They're going to miss another Christmas if we don't act fast. They have been in captivity for over a year now. They have missed many holidays. Their families must be so sad. If they miss another Christmas that's going to be the saddest thing in my life.

So many have not mentioned them. It's like we have forgotten about them. I wish that something would happen. I wish they would let them go. Why do they have them? The Shah came over to the U.S. to be treated and taken care of. They took our American hostages because we treated the Shah. It's sad that many people have forgotten our American hostages in Iran. It's like O'Leary (371) led the house team to a narrow two point victory over the Guaranteed Pest Control team whose high man was Eddie Buick with 358. Robert Smith's 165 string saved the last point for Point Road Golf Club. Charlie Savery, Jr., hands all achin' and racked with pain from shucking out oysters all day, tossed a nice steady 416 for the golfers, but Sturtevant and Hook with Eddie "Sidewinder" Swift's 351 prevailed for two points. Arthur Tripp, plagued with maladjustments of the sacrum region, blasted out a 390 to show the light to Nanfelts' Minks (Louie McKay's team) in their two point romp over the pirate team, Bowling Tunes. Tied for high on the pirate team with 388 each were Paul White and Bob Costa, Sr. Louie Ouellette and Herb's T.V. Shop were just not impressed by the wild antics of Hartley Saw Mill's latest acquisition in the person of Phil Moy, who not only cranked out a 374, but almost single handedly dazzled Herb's T.V. out of two points.

ing under the direction of Mrs. Susan Zartman.

On November 18, 19 and 20 three teams of high school peer leaders visited Old Hammondtown School and Rochester Memorial School to speak to the sixth graders. These constituted the first three of nine sessions during which various aspects of cigarette smoking behavior will be discussed. Coping with peer pressure, how to say "No", and coping with being called "Chicken" are among the topics of concern.

Along with the smoking prevention aspects for the sixth graders, the high school peer leaders are developing leadership and communications skills which are unavailable in the normal high school program.

The team of peer leaders will be visiting Sippican School on December 8, 9 and 10.

You gave me quite a gift!

"I keep looking for that 'magic' formula that makes my wife feel happy about having joined Gloria Stevens.
I have noticed that she is more relaxed, and less nervous than ever before. I feel great just knowing that she is doing something that she enjoys so much.
I know that there is no 'magic' formula, it's just a matter of self-discipline and determination to stay healthy.
Thank you so much Gloria Stevens and all of the lovely people who have helped to make my wife a healthier and happier woman."

THANKS-FOR-GIVING DAY

Students of Old Rochester Regional High School particularly enjoyed going to school the day before Thanksgiving. Normally a half day with 11:30 dismissal, students found more than a few surprises awaiting them upon arrival: like the very talented Couto and Mulligan in the auditorium, a whole flock of door prizes, and a very special pot luck lunch to boot.

It was all part of a student appreciation day, officially called "Thanks-for-Giving" day. It is the staff and the administration's way of thanking the ORR student body for its contributions to school and community. The idea for recognizing the students began with Principal David S. Hagen and his assistant, Edward L. Jawor, and several members of the faculty, Joao Rodrigues and Len Roberts.

Collectively, the four dreamed up the idea for letting the student body know that its efforts toward building a better school community were not going unrecognized. They felt there was a need to tell young people what a good job they were doing, not only in the management of their own affairs, but also in assisting their teachers in making the operation of the school better.

"The many academic, artistic and athletic contributions our students have made have played a major role in making ORR the best secondary school in the area, and to tell the school's young people by observing an appreciation day seemed a good way," Principal Hagen said.

Norm Fuller, teacher and yearbook advisor, came up with a name for the day, while Len Roberts, Athletic Director, drafted the proclamation poster throughout the building. The day before Thanksgiving, Hagen announced, will be known hereafter as "Thanks-for-Giving Day".

Both Principals Hagen and Jawor said, "We are particularly proud of what our students have accomplished so far and we know there are many more good things to come."

PROGRESS REPORTS ORRJHS

Mr. Robert C. Gardner, Principal of the Old Rochester Regional Junior High School, would like to announce that the progress reports will be given out to students on December 12, 1980. This is one week later than originally scheduled.

Enjoy using your fireplace, but have no illusions about the heat you get from it. It may be warm right near the hearth, but overall a fireplace draws heat out of the house and sends it uselessly up the chimney. To prevent this, buy a glass screen instead of the conventional metal mesh. Better still install a "heatolator," a device which actually captures hearth heat and sends it into the room.

TOY SAFETY FOR THE HOLIDAYS

by Dr. Eileen Schell

Toys must be selected with care, since more than 1,800 of them have been banned by the Federal government. Consumers are reminded to shop for safe and reliable toys for the holidays. When making your toy selection, keep the child's age, interests, and skill level in mind. Evaluate the quality, design, and construction of each toy regardless of the age of the child who will receive it.

Be a label reader. Look for age guidelines, such as: "Not recommended for children under three." Insist upon other safety labels, including: "Non-toxic" on painted toys, "Flame retardant/Flame resistant" on fabric products, and "Washable/hygienic materials" on stuffed toys and dolls.

Avoid toys of brittle plastic or glass because they can be broken easily, exposing dangerous, sharp-cutting edges. Wooden, metal, and plastic toys sometimes may also have sharp edges due to poor construction. Plastic wrappings from toys should be discarded before they can become deadly playthings.

Tiny toys and toys with small removable parts can be swallowed or become lodged in a child's windpipe, ears, or nose. The squeakers in some squeeze toys can become loose, fall off, and possible be swallowed. The seams of poorly-constructed stuffed dolls or animals can break open and release small pellets that can either be swallowed or inhaled.

Projectiles--guided missiles and similar flying toys -- can be turned into weapons and cause eye injury. Toys, such as chemistry sets, may be safe for older children, but they are extremely dangerous in the hands of little ones.

Handy helpmates like packaged enriched pre-cooked rice and frozen mixed vegetables with cream sauce transform day-after turkey into a delicious casserole, hearty enough for the family, yet special enough for company.

TURKEY-VEGETABLE CASSEROLE

1 1/2 cups hot chicken broth
2 teaspoons butter or margarine
1 1/2 cups Minute rice

1 package (8 oz.) mixed vegetables with onion sauce
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups diced cooked turkey
2 slices process American cheese, cut in triangles.

Combine broth, butter and rice in 1 1/2 quart baking dish. Cover and bake at 450 degrees for 10 to 15 minutes. Stir and move rice to sides of dish.

Meanwhile, combine vegetables, milk, Worcestershire sauce, salt and turkey in medium saucepan. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a boil; then simmer for 4 minutes. Pour into center of casserole; arrange cheese triangles on top. Bake 2 minutes longer or until cheese is melted. Makes 3 cups plus rice or 4 servings.

Children's Art Exhibit

Bright colors, original perspectives and creative interpretations of stories and characters are in an exhibit of art by children aged 4 through 14 years from eastern Massachusetts being held in the Children's Room of the Boston Public Library through December 31. The winning entries in the Illustrate-a-Book Contest - a competition co-sponsored by the Boston Globe and the Boston Public Library - were submitted to the Library in conjunction with the recent Children's Books International. The art is as varied as a Pippi Longstocking made from popsicle sticks covered with yarn, a shoe-box shadow-box containing a Noah's Ark detailed with toothpicks while two aluminum foil doves fly above, and a one-dimensional Pinocchio, a paper marionette held together with quantities of scotch tape. There are underwater scenes depicting Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea, watercolor mountain vistas illustrating the home of Heidi, a crayoned duel from Treasure Island, and a bright green forest scene from Robin Hood.

The winners met on Saturday, November 22, in the Rabb Lecture Hall of the Boston Public Library, where they were congratulated by Jane Manthorne, the Library's Staff Officer for Special Projects. They then received a copy of a poster especially designed by the Library entitled THE ARTIST AND THE CHILD which features an illustration by the noted children's book illustrator Boris Artzybasheff. They also received a certificate for a gift book of their choice. The awards were made by the judges of the contest: Richard Zonghi, Chief of Graphics for the Library; Dr. Laurene Meringoff, Harvard University School of Education; and Mard Brown, children's book illustrator.

Dr. Meringoff told the audience of family and friends of the forty winners that selection of the winners was very difficult because of the high quality of work and that those who were finally chosen were indeed "very fine". The children had submitted illustrations in any form they chose to represent a selected list of ten children's classics. Entries came from area schools and libraries, from visitors at the Boston Globe Book Fair and from individuals mailing or bringing art into the Library's Children's Room.

Among the winners was Jason LaRochelle from Rochester, and Mara Carr from Fairhaven.

The public is invited to see the children's art in the Children's Room of Boston's General Library building from Mondays through Fridays, from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. except during the holiday period when the Library will be closed, i.e.: Wednesdays,
